Submarine Disaster Hastens Action For Investigation Into Naval Efficiency

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A determined effort by minority forces to incite congress to an "investigating mood" was pressed today as members returned from the holidays and prepared to plunge into a five-months legislative grind tomorrow.

More than a dozen investigating resolutions were pending with a promise of more before the week is ended.

The frank efforts of both senate and house steering committees to keep the legislative program free from time-consuming inquiries has failed to stem the urge to explore wide-spread governmental and private activities.

Sub Disaster Causes Stir.
The S-4 submarine disaster, coming on the eve of a battle between "big navy" and "little navy" forces, has served to whet the inquisitorial appetite of many members.

Pending resolutions for investigations include:

Demands in both senate and house to open up the whole Mexican and Central American fields embraced in

Backbone Of Zero Wave In Middle West Is Reported As Broken

SLIGHT RISE IN TEMPERATURE SEEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—With 30 fatalities in its wake, the backbone of Chicago's zero cold wave has been broken and today will see a slight rise in temperature.

This was the cheering news that came from the weather forecast station this morning.

Moderation will be gradual, it was announced, with today's minimum temperature predicted at five above zero and maximum 14 above. A steady rise to normal is predicted for the next two days.

Of the 30 victims reported in the Chicago district since the intense cold gripped the city, a score were killed in various traffic accidents incidental to the blizzard and heavy snowfall. The others were direct victims of exposure.

Nine were added to the list of dead yesterday and last night. The cold wave, which has been general over

Will Rogers All Fed Up On Rich Men's Applesauce

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 3.—Did you read all the New Year's optimism and applesauce in the papers by all our leading men and bankers? Same gang every year.

Every one either a millionaire or an office holder.

Now there is thirty thousand millionaires in the country, and one hundred and ten millions that are not. Yet you never see a New Year's prediction by one of the hundred and ten.

Looks like just for the novelty, one paper would print just what some poor man saw in store for the coming year.

What New City Officials Said On Taking Office

Mayer W. H. Gillespie—"I wish to thank the people for having elected me mayor of New Castle and with their help at all times I will keep the welfare of the city above personal ambitions. With your help let us continue to make this a good city in which to live."

Councilman W. T. Burns—"I appreciate the honor the electors have conferred upon me. It is the fourth time in succession I have taken the oath. I cannot make any promise, except, as in the past, I will devote my best interests for the welfare of the City. I know no creed, race, club, clan nor party."

Councilman C. H. Reeves—"I am not a speechmaker. I want to work for the city and will do the best I can. I have lived here between 23 and 24 years. It is my home town and I want to help make New Castle a better town to live in."

Treasurer L. W. McClung—"I appreciate the honor bestowed upon me. I hope to conduct the office with the best of my ability. I hope the citizens will not be ashamed in the manner in which I conduct it."

Controller A. L. Porter—"I am something of a 'warmed-over' (meaning re-elected) but I am grateful for the honor and appreciate the office I hold. I expect to do the best I can. I take an interest in city business and do not allow outside 'stuff' to occupy my mind. I thank you for the honor. I am now starting on my fourth term."

Police Force Presents Retiring Mayor Dunlap With Gift On Monday

Police Officers Pay Tribute To Retiring Mayor Monday Afternoon

Mayor Gillespie Is Present And Speaks Briefly To Police Officers

At four o'clock Monday afternoon, in the presence of practically every member of the police force, Mayor William H. Gillespie, and numerous city employees and others gathered in the city council chamber, William H. Dunlap, mayor of the city for the past four years, was presented with a token of esteem in behalf of the members of the police force.

The gift, a solid gold watch charm, on which is represented all the degrees of Masonry from the blue lodge to the thirty-third, the latter of which the former mayor has the honor of having received, is to be fittingly engraved and will have inserted in it a diamond.

Presentation Is Surprise.

The presentation was in the nature of a surprise to the former mayor and was made by City Detective C. G. Logan in behalf of the officers of the city police force. The former mayor expressed his appreciation in a fitting manner.

At the conclusion of this part of the program, Mayor William H. Gillespie was presented to the assembled officers by Chief of Police Henry Dysart and made a short and interesting talk to the officers. At the close of his remarks, he was personally presented to every officer present.

While the event was being held, the retiring officers of New Castle Lodge No. 21, F. O. P. were in place at the front of the council chamber, they being D. T. Nelson, president; James Steiner, secretary; Clarence Samuels, vice-president, and William Walls, conductor. The other officers were in a semi-circle about the room.

When all were gathered, Detective Logan took a position in the center of the room and addressed the former mayor something to this effect, "You are a former soldier and as such have been accustomed to give and receive commands and obey them. You are requested to obey orders now."

Address Is Made.

The former mayor at the direction of Detective Logan advanced to the center of the room, then about faced. It was then that Detective Logan began his presentation remarks.

He said among other things "You have been our commander-in-chief, and you have been a father to us. In the last four years some of us have overstepped the bounds and did things that were not just right. We

State Patrolmen Disregard Grace, Arrest Motorists

Over Hundred Motorists Arrested By State Police For Displaying 1927 Tags

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 3.—State police, ignoring the two-day period of grace established by local police, arrested 129 motorists here who had not obtained 1928 license plates and today these motorists were ordered to appear before a justice of the peace at Bridgewater. The superintendent of police here granted the two days' grace, he said, because many motorists who applied for new licenses as early as last November, had not yet received their new tags.

U. S. MARINES CONTINUE DRIVE AGAINST REBELS

(International News Service)
MANAGUA, Jan. 3.—United States Marines continued their offensive against rebel forces by land and air today as reinforcements were rushed to the battle lines.

Meanwhile, one more marine, Sergeant Thomas Bruce of Philadelphia, was killed and five others were wounded in another skirmish with the forces under General Sandino. The skirmish occurred when a large patrol of Marines were proceeding from Telapancea to reinforce the Marine contingent at Quilalí, which had been attacked Saturday.

At Marine headquarters it was stated that orders have been issued to follow General Sandino until he is either captured or forced to flee the country.

Marine aircraft, assisting the ground forces during Saturday's fighting, are reported to have been fired on by anti-aircraft artillery manned by Sandino's men who displayed excellent gunnery. No aircraft casualties were reported, however.

The American forces at present are preparing for a drive against El Chipotea, which lies on a crest about 20 miles from Quilalí and is declared to be well fortified.

Plan to Attack.

MANAGUA, Jan. 3.—Although reports from the Marine forces which are attacking General Sandino's rebels, are meagre, it is understood that the Marines, aided by Nicaraguan constabulary are today reconnoitering for an attack upon General Sandino's stronghold at Chipotea.

Where the congregation of the church will meet this winter is going to be one of the largest problems that confronts us," declares Mr. Gilligan. "Of course, many places are offered to us and all will be taken up and given due consideration.

"Another question will be that of building on the old grounds or relocating the church. Many of the congregation wish to build the new church farther out of the business district of the city, while others wish the location to remain the same. This will be another problem which we will discuss.

"Wednesday evening we also hope to arrange for a meeting of the congregation of the church so that we can get some opinions on the above problems."

The work of sending reinforcements through is made difficult by the fact that Sandino's forces command heights overlooking narrow passes through which the forces must file and the casualties thus far have been inflicted in skirmishes in these passes with the Marines in the depths and the rebels firing upon them from above.

Marine aviators have carried on constant bombing raids against the rebels and believe they have inflicted heavy casualties but General Sandino's forces were heavily entrenched and many of his men have deserted mines to use for refuge so that it is difficult for the aviators to carry out fully effective raids.

Fight to Finish.

Although orders have been issued for the Marines to pursue the battle until the issue has been won against General Sandino it may take some time and perhaps heavy losses to accomplish this task.

The rebels who are now reported to be well equipped have more strength than was at first estimated and they are prepared to carry on a guerrilla warfare in a country that is difficult for extensive operations.

The Marines are reported to have consolidated their position in Quilalí, but Sandino has a new stronghold at El Chipotea but a short distance away and unless large reinforcements are sent, the rebels will be able to hold out.

State Weather Conditions To Be Unchanged

Forecaster Predicts No Change Tonight; Zero Temperature Is Likely

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 3.—Fire started by an overheated flue in the Webster school today extended the vacation period of some 420 pupils. The fire was discovered by a newsboy, who reported that flames were pouring from the third floor windows of the structure. The janitor of the school was in the basement at the time of the fire and was unaware that his building was ablaze until the firemen arrived.

Loss on the building will amount to several hundred dollars.

New Council Holds Session

Will Study Building Code One Week From Wednesday

Members of the new city council convened at 10 o'clock in council chambers, city building today and the first business transacted was the reading of the report of former Mayor William Dunlap, covering police department activities in December. The report showed receipts amounting to $326,60 had been collected. The report was ordered filed.

During the session Mr. Burns offered a motion which passed, ordering that blanks be furnished to persons wishing tax exemption and that the blanks when filled out be presented to the city assessors who will report twice a month to council.

Solicitor White also suggested that the new council with ex-Mayor Dunlap, former Councilman Gengler, soon study the building code which has been introduced in the form of an ordinance and which now is in committee.

The ordinance is voluminous and it was decided to have council meet a week from Wednesday for the purpose of discussing the proposed law. It is probable that interested parties will be invited to attend the informal session.

First Request Is Made Of New Mayor

First citizen of New Castle to seek out Mayor William H. Gillespie for permission to do something just a little bit out of the ordinary was Benjamin L. French, manager of the National Market.

The object of Mr. French's quest was that he be permitted to have several tons of coal dumped in front of his store, where under the supervision of an officer, unfortunate people of the city, might get a supply of coal, such as they could carry away in baskets, bags and possibly wheelbarrows.

In view of the fact that it was for charitable purposes, the permission was granted, providing that a limited amount be placed at a time, and that congestion of traffic be avoided.

This free distribution of coal is to be started Wednesday. Those in need of coal will be permitted to share in the gift of Mr. French, who plans to give away at least ten tons in this manner.

Kiwanis Club Will Meet At Elks Club

The next meeting of the New Castle Kiwanis club will take place Wednesday at noon in the dining room of the Elks' club. As yet, nothing definite has been arranged for the program.

At the meeting which will take place January 11, Past President Williamson has arranged a program in conjunction with the Women's club.

All members are urged to note the change in place of meeting to the Elks' club. Formerly, meetings were held in the dining room of the Y. M. C. A.

POLICE FORCE PRESENTS RETIRING MAYOR WITH GIFT

have been ordered in on the carpet. You said plenty to the offenders, then sentenced them to from five days to two months.

"Then forgetting your position as commander-in-chief, you went home, thought it over for a day or two, then the offender was called back into the office. There was a heart to heart talk, in which the disgrace to the offender's family, the police force and himself discussed, then in the bigness of your heart, you ordered the man back to work. There were many tears shed on these occasions.

"It speaks well for your force and yourself when it can be said that not one man has been fired in four years.

"Sorry To See You Go."

"As the representative of the chief, the lieutenant and every member of the police force, I can say without reserve that we are all sorry to see you go. At a meeting two months ago, it was decided that the officers friend should be remembered on leaving. I have here (presents beautiful watch charm) that which represents the thought and appreciation of every member of the police department. It is with pleasure that I have the honor of presenting it to you. I can say on behalf of these men and Mrs. McKibben of the police force, that from the bottom of our hearts we are sorry to see you leave."

The former mayor replied feelingly, saying: "I appreciate this gift for what it represents and will be proud to wear it, prizing all the more because of what it means in coming from you men. It is true that we have had a comradeship and association that I will never forget."

Proud of Record.

"I am proud of the fact that it was not necessary to dismiss any of the members of the force in my four years and I am proud to turn over to the new mayor, a police department that is much better than it was four years ago. Conditions here, especially in the matter of law enforcement, are better and the credit is due, not to me, but to the police department.

"These have been four years of worry, interference and bother and I hope the new mayor may not have the same nasty, underhand in-situations to contend with that I have had. In the treatment of cases coming before me, I have endeavored to exercise humanity and the law of God. This has brought considerable unjust criticism.

No Apology.

"The police department in the past four years has not been perfect, but when it is considered that the police officer has more trials and temptations than the ordinary man, it looks as if some of the accusers might not do as well. I have no apology to offer for the police department. I fear that should Jesus Christ return to earth, that He would find those who would accuse Him in like manner.

"I have defended you men and it is probably that you will still need defenders and remember this, I'll still be with you, although no longer at your head. I will always remember this association and friendship and will wear and appreciate this gift as long as I live."

Chief of Police Dysart was then called to the center of the room and expressed the sentiment that while it was with regret that the police force witnessed the passing of the old commander-in-chief, that it was also fitting that the new head of the department should be heard.

New Mayor Speaks

Major Gillespie was then requested to step forward and made a few remarks, relative to the police department over which he will have supervision for the next four years.

He said among other things, "I am not prepared to make much of a talk to you men, as I did not know of this affair until about an hour ago.

"After looking you over, I would say that you are a pretty nice looking bunch of men. You all look good to me. I make no exception in this statement.

"I expect that you have heard that I am a crab and cross. I think you will find out differently and we will work together. I am not exactly an old crab" and there will be lots of things that it will be necessary to pass up as we go along.

Look Over Rules

"All I expect is that every man do his duty as he finds it. It is all that I expect.

"There are books of rules arranged by the city council for the conduct and control of the police department and its officers. I would suggest that you officers read over these rules and regulations again. There are no doubt some of the rules that you have forgotten. It will help and do you good to get better acquainted with them. Then conduct yourself accordingly.

"We will get along all right, if every man does his duty."

At the conclusion of the remarks of Major Gillespie, the men of the department formed in line and passed and shook hands with the new executive, who greeted each man in a friendly, pleasant manner.

the entire country, was responsible directly or indirectly for nearly two score deaths in other sections.

The front of the frigid wave traveled southeast, many sections in the traditional "sunny South" having experienced their lowest temperatures in several decades. The zero line extended well into the Carolinas and Tennessee, and freezing temperatures were reported half way down the length of Florida.

Heavy damage to citrus crops in the latter state is feared. Growers were warned to light up their smudge pots.

Similar conditions obtained all along the gulf coast and into the Rio Grande valley of Texas. Only the southern part of California seemed to have escaped the rigors of the present frigid wave. Los Angeles enjoyed a temperature of 72.

New York escaped with comparatively mild weather. It was colder yesterday in many sections of the far South than in New York, where a minimum of 14 above was recorded. Atlanta experienced two degrees above zero.

Despite this fact, eight persons were reported to have died in New York from cold and exposure.

The Middle West is still blanketed under nearly a foot of snow. Trains are again running on schedule over most of the district, owing to the work of snow plows.

An inquiry into the sufficiency of the $150,000,000 five year aviation program of Rep. James of Michigan, ranking Republican on the house military affairs committee, is backing this inquiry.

A special inquiry into the S-4 disaster, proposed by Rep. Griffin (D) of New York and broadening of its scope to include the entire navy and merchant marine, proposed by Rep. Black (D) of New York.

Naming of a special committee to report on Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder's charges of "waste and inefficiency" in navy and cost of new aircraft carriers, Lexington and Saratoga, now placed at $40,000,000 each. Proposed by Rep. McClinic (D) of Oklahoma.

Uncovering of activities of the lobby to repeal of federal inheritance tax, being sought from senate members by Rep. Rainey (D) of Illinois.

Chief Probable Coal Strike.

Several house resolutions to inquire into Mexican and Central American affairs, and a resolution by Sen. Wheeler (D) of Montana, to go into scope of American troops abroad to maintain American trade concessions.

One of the first new demands to be served upon congress will be a resolution by Rep. Boyle (D) of New York to investigate the coal strike situation.

Mrs. Mayer Buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth McConahy Mayer, wife of Martin M. Mayer, were held Monday afternoon at three o'clock from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip McConahy, 1724 East Washington street. The services were largely attended, the Ladies' Auxiliary, of which she was a member, attending in a body. Many beautiful flowers expressed sympathy. Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church, was in charge. Burial was made in Oak Park cemetery and the pallbearers were Robert, Alex, Ira and John McConahy. John Donahue and William Shephard.

Official reports to the navy department from Rear Admiral Sellers and Col. Mason Gullik, the Marines' commandant, have stressed the fact that reinforcements orders also have been issued for the re-alignment of American military and naval forces in Nicaraguan waters which will permit more rifles to be sent against the rebels.

Two fresh battalions of marines, of 500 rifles each, were ordered mobilized at once and dispatched to Nicaragua as soon as they can be made ready. One battalion will form at Quantico, Va., and one at San Diego.

In addition to these reinforcements, orders also have been issued for the re-alignment of American military and naval forces in Nicaraguan waters which will permit more rifles to be sent against the rebels.

The requests by the beleaguered marine force at Quallia for reinforcements and hospital supplies, Wilbur said, was intended to apply to troops and supplies already in Nicaragua, at the Managua base. They will be dispatched at once by airplane, he said.

District Attorney Asa Keyes, who will demand that Hickman be sent to the gibbet, is prepared to combat any insanity plea.

The prosecutor has announced he can produce "surprise" witnesses who will testify that Hickman is now, was, and always has been sane.

Besides a group of noted alienists who have observed Hickman since his arrest, Keyes is understood to have obtained statements from persons who have known Hickman intimately for years and who will testify that never in the past have his actions betrayed a trace of insanity.

In any event, today's proceeding promises to be brief.

PLACE FOR THE FAMILY DOCTOR

THERE always will be work for the family doctor even though modern medical trend is toward providing a specialist for every part of the body, according to Dr. Charles H. Mayo of the famous Rochester clinic.

The family doctor's main work now has become diagnosis—telling people what ails them and where to go for the remedy. That, and telling people who only imagine they are ill that there really is nothing the matter with them. Of the latter sort, Dr. Mayo recently said, many come to the Minnesota clinic seeking relief. Perhaps for these people, after all, there never will be relief.

Diagnosis or no, we should hate to lose the personality of the good old fashioned family doctor who "knows less and less about more and more," according to Dr. Mayo. The specialist, Dr. Mayo described as the "man who knows more and more about less and less." Whatever he knows, the family doctor always has been a man after our own heart—when we were sick.

Who cannot remember the reassuring words, spoken in some dim lit hallway, "We'll pull her through now, all right, I think?" Those words were golden to us.

Who cannot remember that pleasant face in the dead of night? And how the boy's own face lighted up when the doctor's warm, confident touch closed on his throbbing wrist?

Through storms and summer heat, day and night, miles upon miles, the family doctor has gone on his missions of health and mercy, a sympathetic friend, a sure comforter, patient, inspiring.

A place for the family doctor? There always will be a place for him!

DISOWN YOUR OWN CHILD?

ACCORDING to news dispatches from Texas the father of William Edward Hickman, self-confessed boy murderer at Los Angeles, has disowned his son, will have nothing to do with him, no matter what developments may be shown. That story added just one more terrible feature to a case filled with unusual horrors. Desertion by the father was not needed to make the case more frightful. If the father has taken that step, he has done something brave men cannot approve.

Father and son are linked together by ties of blood, a kinship one or both cannot change, however much that shift might be desired. If parental relation ever was admitted, it runs to the end, no matter where the final chapter may be written. Words uttered by the father disowning the son are but empty phrases, in fact. The relation persists, and responsibility rests on the parent. It may be denied, but of no avail; thinking humanity will never recognize the separation.

The duty of the parent is well known. It requires protection, comfort; it calls for the Spartan spirit to stand by, even if all human power has been expended, stand by, if on the scaffold, stand by, even if the heart is broken, stand by and stand by to the end—death only separates father and son. To do less is to fail in the greatest test, refuse the cup of bitterness after enjoying the cup of joy, to be a fair weather father, not the courageous sort that glorifies and ennobles fatherhood, that never thinks of quitting, into whose heart the sordid part of being a quitter never can find entrance.

Let the vain and foolish man be a murderer, a double murderer, as he has confessed, with crimes so shocking as to chill the heart of the nation, he still is the son of his father, the duty of the father remains, the obligation may be shirked, but no words from human tongue can free the father from the natural obligation to stand by the child. Parents have disowned children and in that way made investment in heartbreaking memories that last through life. The world may hear the child disowned, but the world never excuses the parent that fails his child, no matter in what extremity. Disown your own flesh and blood in the face of grave danger? Thank God, few fathers ever have done it and, thanks be, this good old world won't let them stand blameless afterwards.—Ohio State Journal.

JANUARY

JANUS, the ancient deity, for whom this month was named, is usually pictured as having two faces, and this fact is not without its significance. Extremely cold days vie with those of milder temperature now, yet withal, the ice and snow and biting winds are regnant and not at all backward in asserting their authority.

Winter is no longer an unfamiliar visitor, but an accepted guest whose stay of some weeks' duration is taken as a matter of course. The boy with the coaster is here. Moreover, the skaters are holding carnivals, so heigh-ho for the river and the lake, the frolic and the fun and the clever capers cut by steel-shod boots!

January skies at night time are ripe for the enjoyment of astronomy with the naked eye. Go out of doors at 9 o'clock on a clear evening and the heavens will reward you lavishly.

The woods are drear and stark for the most part and bear the marks of battle. Nature has put on the weeds of widowhood and every green thing save the fir, the balsam and other trees not deciduous is at a premium. The cottontails are joyous and much in evidence in the field along the roadways. Here and there a Junco, or snow bird, is cheerfully hopping about. A lonely and somber crow flaps over head, cawing as he goes—a raucous note, and in keeping with the wintriness of the January landscape.

AMERICANISM: Arranging your affairs so you'll have a swell sedan for your ride to the poor house.

There's always an alumni fight against Greek letter fraternities, led by the old boys who never were asked to join one.

Nothing can crush the Christmas spirit quicker than over-eating.

to move, know that attack on this continent would be suicide.

But it will not be so always. Aircraft improvement in the next 10 years as great as in the last 10, would enable fliers from Europe or Asia to bomb New York or San Francisco, as easily as a Chicago bandit gang motors from the Loop to the South Side.

We ought to get ready for that, remembering what happened to Carthage, to Croesus, who stood crying aloud on the bonfire and what happens to any fat groceryman sitting at his front door with cash back of him, forgetting the holdup men, or saying, "They could not dare touch me." Uncle Sam begins 1928 giving an excellent imitation of that grocer.

SIZE OF THE BRAIN

The size of your mind does not depend upon the size of the brain.

There are some people who are continually seeking the source of spiritual powers among material things. They think the soul is but a function of the body and mind is but a function of the brain.

Somehow facts are rather disconcerting to this theory. The capacity of a man's mind is not at all in accordance with the size of his head. There may be something good in phrenology, but the bumpiest head I ever saw that clearly indicated a criminal was on the shoulders of a very kind and intelligent person.

Phrenology has not yet reached the stage of an exact science.

Here are a few comforting facts for the head that just fills a 6" hat.

If one man has a leonine, massive head and another a modest, unassuming upper terminal, you can tell this about their respective brains: nothing.

Just that.

Not long ago the newspapers carried the story of the discovery of the largest human skull ever found.

It measured eight and a half inches in length and had a brain cavity of more than one hundred and twenty-two cubic inches.

This huge head and the huge brain contained inside had belonged to a South African native whose intellect was not equal to that of a fourteen-year-old child with a brain and cranium a fraction its size.

Daniel Webster had a massive head of unusual size. In London there was a man who had a head exactly its counterpart in shape and size. He was an ignorant ditch digger.

Previous to the discovery of the huge skull in Africa, of the four that ranked among the largest known, one belonged to Turgenoff, the Russian novelist, one to a day laborer, one to a bricklayer, and one to an imbecile.

The woman who possessed the largest head was insane and died of consumption.

Anatole France, the writer, and Gambetta, the statesman, are among those who had heads and brains which examination showed to be below normal in size.

Says Professor Dorsey in his "Why We Behave Like Human Beings":

"There is no evidence that the size of the brain or of the head is necessarily connected with actual or potential intelligence. Large brains have no more units than small brains; the units are larger. A small brain is no more necessarily handicapped than a small hand or a small foot."

Clemency Hearing For Doomed Pair Called Thursday

Governor Smith To Hear
Clemency Pleas of Ruth
Snyder And Judd
Gray

DAY OF DOOM IS FAST APPROACHING

Mrs. Snyder's Mother Is Only
Visitor To Forlorn Figure
On New Year's Day

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—With only nine days to live, Ruth Snyder and her former lover, Henry Judd Gray, are today awaiting their approaching doom with the fortitude of fatalists. In the dreary death house at Sing Sing prison, only a few cells apart, they are living their last bleak hours in heart-rending solitude.

Hope of escaping that sinister contraption known as the electric chair still turns faintly in the breast of Mrs. Snyder. She believes Governor Alfred E. Smith may be prevailed upon to commute her sentence to life imprisonment.

Gray seems resigned to his fate. He rarely talks these last fateful days. He reads incessantly. His favorite book is the Bible.

Hearing Thursday.

The governor will hold a clemency hearing in Albany on Thursday. It will be the condemned couple's last chance to avoid paying the extreme penalty for the sashweight murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, the home-loving art editor.

Mrs. Snyder, displayed interest this morning in the news that Justice Townsend Scudder, who presided at their trial, had made a written recommendation to Governor Smith. The judge refused, however, to reveal the substance of his recommendation, and he is known to advocate the abolition of capital punishment.

The governor's secretary had written to Justice Scudder and to District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe, who conducted the prosecution, asking their views on the question of clemency.

The hearing on Thursday will be attended by all the lawyers involved in the case. Within the next twenty-four hours, Gray's attorneys are to visit him in Sing Sing and discuss with him the points to be raised in the last-chance appeal for clemency. Soon afterward Mrs. Snyder's lawyers will confer with her.

Mrs. Snyder had but one visitor over the New Year's holiday—her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown.

Must Die In Chair
On Monday Morning

Pardon Board Refuses Clemency
For Raymond Winters,
Doomed Slayer

(BULLETIN)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—Raymond Winter, Pittsburgh street car conductor, must die in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary next Monday for the murder of two children near Pittsburgh.

Last hope for the condemned man vanished today with the announcement of F. H. Hoy, secretary of the board of pardons, that Winter's plea for clemency on a basis of insanity has been refused by the board.

The decision came after the case had been before the board six months.

Winter was convicted of the murder of Helen and Alexander Sabo, whose bodies were found in a creek near Pittsburgh. Their skulls had been fractured. Winter was the last person seen with them. And much of the evidence against him was circumstantial.

Hope of escaping that sinister contraption known as the electric chair still turns faintly in the breast of Mrs. Snyder. She believes Governor Alfred E. Smith may be prevailed upon to commute her sentence to life imprisonment.

Gray seems resigned to his fate. He rarely talks these last fateful days. He reads incessantly. His favorite book is the Bible.

W. L. Fordyce of South Jefferson street, South New Castle Boro, father of the Mary Louise Fordyce who eloped with Evan Poccil from the home of her aunt, Mrs. Bruce McVay of Brownsville, Pa., last Tuesday, has just returned from Brownsville where he made an investigation of the alleged kidnapping and elopement.

Mr. Fordyce said that no new developments have been found in the case, and that no trace of his daughter or Poccil has been found since they were married in Cumberland, Md., last Thursday night after obtaining a license from the license bureau there.

It was hoped that she and her husband would turn up here at her father's home but as yet they have had no further word from her, states the father. He still thinks they may come here before they return to Brownsville.

Mrs. McVay with whom the girl and her brothers and sisters have made their home since the death of their mother in 1918, still believes that the girl was kidnapped and forced into the marriage.

Capital Seeks To Apprehend Forged Document Purveyors

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Forged documents, of a sort calculated to make international trouble, have become too much of a pest in Washington to be borne.

No matter what the final verdict of the Senate committee now engaged in investigating one especial batch of papers purporting to show anti-American activities on Mexico's part, it's well established that enough bogus literature of this character is in circulation to be desperately annoying, if not worse.

In short, officials who handle certain classes of the government's foreign business find themselves in constant peril of falling into unpleasant, even dangerous, traps.

Indeed, this may actually have happened often than most of us know anything about, "because," as Senator Shipstead, of the foreign relations committee of the upper house of Congress, remarks, "the victim of one of these misadventures seldom cares to relate his experience."

The senator's comment is somewhat to the point, inasmuch as he sidestepped just such a deadfall himself, not so long ago.

The Minnesota solon has the reputation of quite frequently defending the Latin-American republics in their squabbles with the United States, on the ground that they often are more sinned against than sinning.

cluding the voices of all the Latin-American republics, as well as the United States.

Then, too, of late the forgers really have been getting too "raw". They're troublesome.

Consequently he assumes that it was expected he would welcome documentary evidence, offered to him, of a plot by interests on this side of the border, to foment a revolution in Mexico.

With a little co-operation across the border, an excellent prospect is seen of knocking the traffic on the head, and maybe of putting some of the traders where they won't be such a nuisance for a long time to come.

Whether the so-called information's purveyors simply wanted whatever cash they could get for it, or intended to stick a pin in it, as snide, at the psychological moment, too, placing the senator in an idiotic position after he'd raised a fuss, he can't say.

He didn't bite, so he failed to find out that detail.

"Some people," observed the Minnesotan, "think we senators are a bit too cagy about accepting all the alleged facts they bring to us, but believe me, we need to be."

But why so much Mexican-American "documentary evidence" just now?

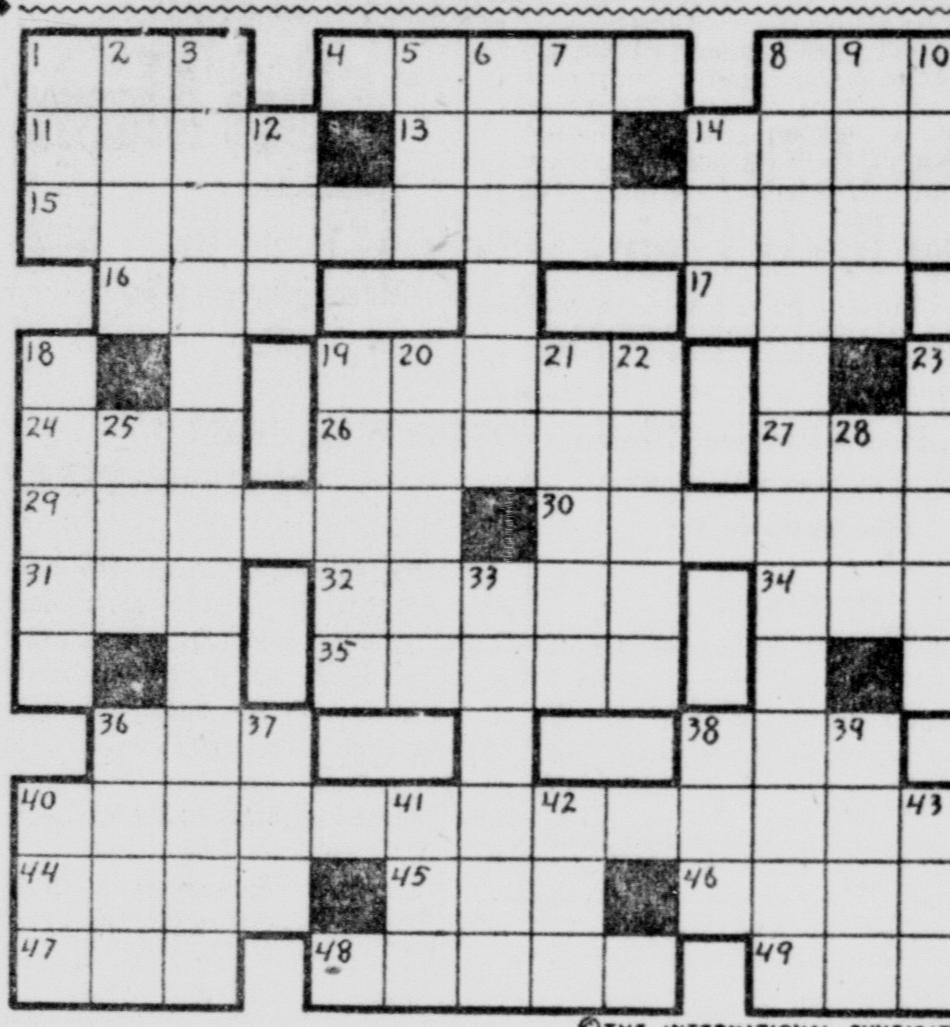

Why so much more of it than of any of the other international varieties?

"Oh," explained the senator, "the present demand's for the Mexican-American brand. There's bound to be a liberal supply of any sort there's a market for."

At any rate, there are many signs that the executive end of the government is out of patience with the "forged document" epidemic.

For one thing, President Coolidge is bent upon ending his term in the White House to the tune of a magnificent good relationship chorus, in-

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND
BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE GREAT RED BALL
With a flit of his tall Blue Jay turned from watching the sun come up out of the east and whirled around. After one look at Peter he gave a scream so wild that it brought several birds flying to see what was the matter.

"By my black beak!" screeched he. "Turn yourself into a little Two-Legs, quick—a Two-Legs as small as I am. I intended to invite you to ride upon my back, but, good gracious! Your claw is almost as large as my whole body. Besides, the very sight of you, such a huge monster as you are now, would scare my family to death. Mother Blue Jay is quite sensitive about monsters of any kind."

"Don't get nervous," cried the boy, laughing, for Blue Jay was twisting and turning and jerking his crested head up and down and making all manner of queer motions.

"Growing tiny is as easily done, he said, "thanks to the spirit of the old oak tree! Look the other way for a moment. When I say 'ready' turn and look at the surprise I'll have for you!"

"Watch! Listen! One! Two! Three! There! How do you like my looks now?"

"Fine! Oh, ever so much better. You are a sight for dim eyes, now that you are bird-size," declared Blue Jay, joyfully. "Come, now, hop upon my back, boy, hold on tight, and off we'll go."

"B-r-r!" cried Peter, as he jumped upon the window ledge and prepared to mount his steed. "B-r-r! It's cold it is. And how sharp the wind! My room is so warm and comfy it seems a shame to leave it. I wish I had thought to wear my mittens. My fingers will freeze!"

"Oh, no, they will not!" contradicted Blue Jay, quickly. "Tuck them in under my wing feathers and they will be safe."

Now the sun was at their rear, and the boy didn't dare to turn around to look at it.

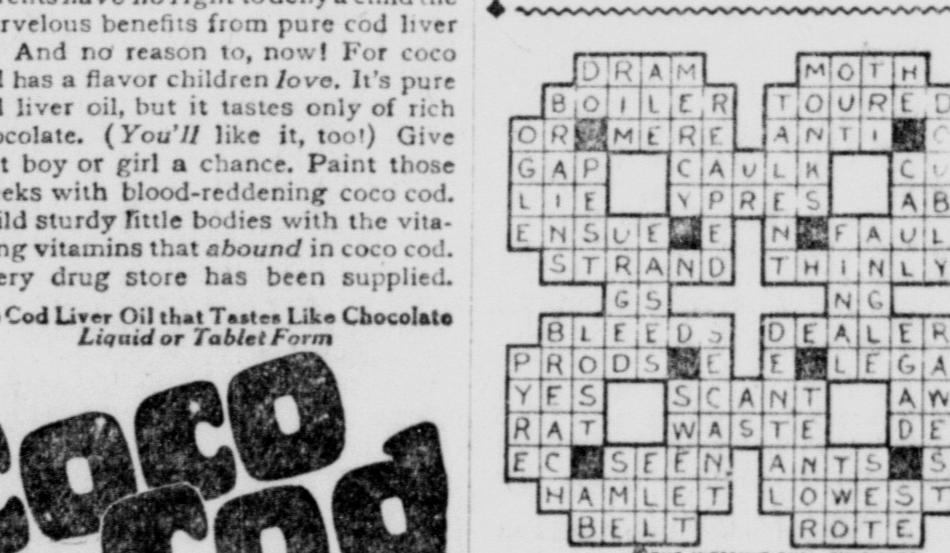

Another quick swerve and then straight up, up into the heavens flew the bird, so that all Peter could see was the sky. He was just growing dizzy when Blue Jay once more changed his course, this time flying more easily.

At first Peter had wondered what was the matter. His airy steed had seemed to navigate with difficulty, as if his body was too heavy for his wings, or his wings too stiff. But now Blue Jay was gliding swiftly over a tree that stood leafless and alone in the farthest part of the garden and Peter judged by the commotion that arose beneath them that this tree marked the end of their journey.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

SUICIDE

Since the old days when a suicide was buried at the cross roads, face down, with a stake through his heart, the idea of suicide has been abhorrent to the normal individual. But there is more than one kind of self-destruction. There is the suicide of inertia. Inertia is not merely a lack of motion. Inertia is a force—a force that resists a change of direction, a change of position. The clerk, adding his column of figures year after year, trudging the rut into which he fell years before, is a victim of inertia. Persisted in without ambition, without progress, it is a kind of suicide. Inertia is sometimes the force that holds men on the path to nowhere.

HAPPINESS IN ACTION
Those who have tried to find happiness by the route of rest are likely to be the first to agree with Clemenceau, wise old French statesman, who says: "The chief factor in the acquisition and retention of health and happiness in work. I have never loved anything so well as the joy of action. I am contented at the end of a day in proportion to the amount of action put into it, and my health seems to keep pace automatically with my action and my contentment. It all comes about naturally through the alchemy of work. All roads lead to Rome, but the only one which leads to self realization and complete peace is the road of work."

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT

There may be nothing wrong with the idea of democracy or representative government. The troubles we have with it lie in our failure to develop leadership or to trust what leadership we do develop. There is no point or purpose in spreading power among large numbers. Good government comes from the centralization of power in the hands of those who are intelligent and who are to be trusted.

FALLACIES

One of the fallacies in economics is that natural resources make for prosperity. If this were true China and Russia would be the most prosperous places on the globe. It takes initiative and daring to develop natural resources if a country is to become rich. It is the same with the individual. A man may be rich in natural resources. He may have a good mind and much information. He may occupy a good position in life and have much opportunity, but if he is mentally lazy—as most men are—he will fail. The possession of natural resources, with no plowing and no cultivating, is tragic.

Who is the biggest hypocrite? He who calls vice pleasure—Josh Billings. Couldn't be truer if every word were spelled right.

Assuming that Mr. Darrow is right and that Ruth Snyder is mentally disabled, you'd think Judd Gray would have caught it.

Carnegie Steel Optimistic For 1928 Business

Indications Are That Presidential Year Will Not Effect Operations

W. G. Clyde, president of the Carnegie Steel company, is optimistic for the coming year. He says:

I think the year 1928 is going to be a mighty good year despite the feeling that many of us have that a presidential year upsets our business routine. This country is too big and the demands for the products of our manufacturers is necessarily too incessant to permit of any protracted idleness. To be sure toward the latter part of 1927 business slowed up quite a bit but for all that the year as a whole far exceeded what the business experts forecasted for it. These slowing up periods we must expect. We cannot keep going under pressure industrially without a breathing spell to give us opportunity for replacements, repairs and taking account of stock.

The old days of panics as past, due largely to the stabilizing influence of such institutions as the Federal Reserve Bank, and business and financial men seem to have greater faith in their country, in their business and in each other.

In the steel business I think we are going to be quite busy for the demands of railroads, the automobile industry, new structures that are already being put down on paper, bridges, ships, the demand for which is incessant because of the rapid growth of our nation, and the problem of transportation, one that is be-setting every municipality in the country, seems to be creating a demand for subways and tunnels. We see it about our own city; in this community especially tunneling and bridges seem to be our only solution of our complex problem of transportation. Then, too, I can see an increased demand for steel piling and I have no doubt that in the great flood prevention and river improvements that must come engineers will turn to this product of the steel industry as part of their equipment.

All in all I think we will find 1928 a very satisfactory year.

Alaska Trappers

Employ Airplanes Expense Money In Their Industry

(International News Service)

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 3.—The airplane as an adjunct to trapping fur has become a fixture along the Susitna river and its tributaries. During the past fall a passenger plane capable of carrying 500 pounds of supplies was kept steadily employed conveying trappers to their traplines, from 50 to 100 miles in the interior. During the open season the plane lands in the rivers and lakes on pontoons. With the coming of snow and the freeze-up, ski were employed. Augmenting the airplane as a means of travel is the outboard motor, which are becoming as thick as Ford motor cars along the waterways. They have brought a new feature in service stations. They are being located along the long waterways by trappers who have made their pile but who desire to take it easy. It is also planned to serve airplanes engaged in general transportation throughout the territory with their base at Anchorage.

Another ordinance sent to committee after being introduced provides for the grading and paving next spring of East Harrison street, between the Adams store and the Harmony railroad tracks.

Safecrackers Are Foiled In Attempt To Rob Two Places

(International News Service)
SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 3.—Burglars made unsuccessful raids on the post office at Paxinos, near here, and the Venetian Social club here, early today, failing in their efforts to dynamite the safes in both places.

The safecrackers were frightened away from the postoffice after they used dynamite and pickaxes in an effort to open the strong boxes. They stole a few pennies from the cash register of the Adams store, in which the postoffice is located.

The work done at the switchboard of the telephone exchange during the fire of Saturday evening, when the First United Presbyterian church was completely burned, was graphically described this morning by John R. Dunfee, city manager for the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania.

When the first alarm was turned in, declares Mr. Dunfee, only the usual force of girls were working the switches. But shortly afterwards, when the second and third alarms were turned in, extra girls were called out. Aside from the girls who received calls, many others who were in the town down district at the time that the fire started, rushed at once to the exchange, until there were more than twice the number of girls at the keys than had been on when the fire started, and all were kept busy.

This states Mr. Dunfee, continued until about 10:30 o'clock. Between 11:45 and 12:45 there were 12 other extra girls employed to take care of the regular New Year's traffic. "That is good," said Chairman Gillespie.

"We do not want to do too much work at first," said the city clerk.

As Councilman W. T. Burns (re-elected), G. H. Reeves (newly elected), and D. O. Davies and Walter Tyler, whose terms have not expired.

When Chairman Gillespie called the meeting to order he used a new gavel presented to him today.

"We are not going to have much business," remarked City Clerk Mrs. Thomas Jones.

"That is good," said Chairman Gillespie.

"We do not want to do too much work at first," said the city clerk.

As Councilman W. T. Burns was in the city engineer's office looking into data of future legislation, Mayor Gillespie remarked:

"Do we have a sergeant-at-arms here?"

At that moment Mr. Burns took his seat and answered the roll call.

Solicitor Robert White also attended the session.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Another after-Christmas story that wasn't in the papers, was to my mind, the best story of them all. A number of organizations give Christmas dinner to down-and-outers, either charging them a small sum or else giving it gratis.

This year, the Bowery Mission spread itself. The bum, on entering was directed to a table by a flossy head waiter, dressed in evening clothes. The tables were decked in linen, as never before and with real silverware. The waiters were garbed in the latest fashion (for waiters): braided jackets and trousers in the Spanish style. Seven courses were served—separately and with proper dignity. In the corner of the dining room was a three-piece string orchestra. And I overlooked mentioning that each of the small tables held a delicate rose-shaded lamp.

Virtually, the bums went forth, were charged nothing, and were treated for once like humans. About 400 of them were fed; which made quite a dent upon the Mission's slender fund, since each dinner actually cost about $1.35. Unofficially, the guests let it be known that the Mission would be the favored inn next Christmas.

Mr. Zero also threw his annual party at "The Tub," his regular hang-out at Astor place. Otherwise Urban Ledoux, "Zero" charges a nickel for all of his feasts, giving as his reason that he will not insult unfortunate men by giving them charity. He asserts that the five-cent charge is sufficient to buy the regular stew, coffee and bread because he buys all of food from whole-salers in job lots. This Christmas the nickel also entitled the customer to admission into one of a number of halls Zero had rented. Here small luxuries, such as tobacco, candy and fruit were given out, having been donated by numberless citizens.

Myself, I think Zero is unreasonably idealistic about the men he aids. Three times last week I was stopped by shabby gents and offered a pack of cigarettes for a quarter. Obviously, these came originally from some charity and without a doubt, the money got from the sale would be promptly invested in terrible hooch. That in itself is fair enough. A bum will tell you that where a cup of coffee would keep him warm for a few minutes, ten cents worth of waterfront bug juice will burn him up for a few hours. But Mr. Zero will not admit that his friends will stoop to such means to get liquor.

It must take that amount of beautiful naivete to work year in and out for those amiable gentry, who though admittedly ambitious for work, are physiologically unsuited to that pastime. The spirit is willing, they'd lasted.

It's a dull New York, just now, and I imagine a dull and drab America. New Year celebration headaches and attacks of dyspepsia are yet vigorous. Children are back in school, mourning the return to labor and gloomily contemplating the months before next Christmas. Adults are likewise back to the daily toll, uncomfited by the fact that the Aunt Minnie's present can't be exchanged; that the awe-inspiring crimp in the bank account will not be helped by the new income tax and that holiday prices must have deflated quite a way since it came "off the boat."

World Conference Proposed By King For Disarmament

Utah Senator Denounces
"Billion Dollar" Naval
Program As Non-sense

URGES STUDY OF MILITARISM COSTS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

(Copyright 1928 by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senator William H. King, (D.) of Utah, today proposed new world conference for total disarmament, the abandonment of the government's proposed "billion-dollar" new navy program and use of the money thus saved for human purposes.

King denounced the administration's "billion-dollar navy program" as a policy of "criminal madness," certain to provoke a world-wide fear and hatred of the United States and destined to pave the way to another world war.

He pictured the United States and Great Britain as occupying in 1928 the same roles held by Germany and Great Britain in 1900. A naval race now between Great Britain and the United States will lead to another world war within two decades. King warned, just as the British-German race resulted in the last world war.

King urged the American people to study the costs of militarism in the United States. In the current year, he said, "the costs of the military and naval establishments" will total $760,000,000 aside from all construction costs. This compares to a total of only $40,000,000 in 1880, $128,000,000 in 1900 and $231,000,000 in 1910.

In the last seven "peace years," he added, America has spent $2,261,000,000 on its navy alone—more than a third of its cost for the preceding thirty-six years, which included the Spanish-American and World wars.

Cost Is Enormous

"The American navy will cost the American people $10,000,000,000 in the next twenty years if we indulge in this new program," said King. "This program will be regarded throughout the world as a declaration that the United States is entering on a competitive naval race.

"It will arouse fear in many countries and create suspicion toward the United States in every nation. It will provoke nations now struggling with financial burdens, to increase their armaments as a protection against the United States. It will promote war sentiment everywhere.

"It is criminal madness to launch a program certain of provoking a world conflagration at no distant date. If this program goes through, 1928 will bear the same relations to the next world war that 1900 bore to the last one. In 1900, Great Britain and Germany began their naval race and in 1914, the world conflict burst upon startled peoples. If we begin such a race now with Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Russia, and Japan will feel constrained to follow and monster military establishments will appear throughout the world.

"It may not take fourteen years for the next world war to break. Although at this time, war between the English speaking nations cannot be conceived. It is certain though that war will come if nations build huge armaments and the next war will nearly destroy humanity."

King urged the Coolidge administration to call a new disarmament conference. "America should lead the way to peace," he said. "The President should call a world conference of all nations, including Russia, for the purpose of discussing total disarmament, and all causes which lead to war. The Russian proposal was a sound one and it is a lasting shame that it was not seriously considered at Geneva."

CLUB FORMED BY CROOKS IN PLAN TO GO STRAIGHT

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 3.—One of the strangest clubs in the world, composed entirely of crooks who have decided to "go straight" has been founded here.

And strange as the composition of the organization itself is the place in which it meets—nothing less than the Church of All Hallows, in Mark-Lane.

The club is known as the League of the Straight Road. It was founded by Miss Marjorie Evans, a welfare worker, in company with an ex-burglar who had been disabled in the war.

"My ex-burglar partner," Miss Evans told International News Service in describing her unique organization, "gave me entree into the most distinguished set of crooks in London. It is more difficult to get into this set than into any of the exclusive in Mayfair.

"Here we find men and women who want to 'go straight,' but who have not had a favorable opportunity.

"Every member of the club has to be introduced and vouched for by a member who knows that he wants a chance. For four months he is on probation."

The club at present has 40 members, and Miss Evans hopes soon to enlarge it to 50. She finds employment and provides amusement for her strange colleagues, and devotes all her time to keep them from the temptations which might cause them to go back to crime.

LONE EAGLE'S MOTHER BACK FROM FLIGHT

Mrs. Lindbergh Enthusiastic Over Piloting Of Brooks And Courtesy Given By Eve: yone

MRS. EVANGELINE LINDBERGH

DETROIT, Jan. 3.—"The trip was perfectly lovely. I enjoyed every moment of it and was not worried one minute."

Thus Mrs. Evangeline L. L. Lindbergh at her home here last night enthusiastically described her holiday air jaunt to visit her son Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in Mexico City as she prepared to assume her duties tomorrow as a chemistry teacher in Cass Technical high school.

"Everyone was perfectly lovely to us wherever we went," she said. "We never had a moment of worry from the time we left the airport here."

"Our pilot (Harry Brooks chief test pilot of the Ford Motor Co.) was so considerate and never once attempted flight when he thought there was the slightest danger."

Asked if she enjoyed flying she replied quickly, "Of course I do. Why shouldn't I?"

"I am not the slightest bit tired. We could not have been more comfortable than in the cabin of the plane. It was warm and the flights were not long."

Landings Not Forced.

The two landings made south of Chicago Saturday evening and yesterday evening at Edwardsburg, Mich. were not forced Mrs. Lindbergh insisted.

Mr. Brooks simply thought it best to land rather than continue the flight against the storms. I am sure we could have gone on through but Mr. Brooks thought it best to land. He is a wonderful pilot."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A new era of friendly relations between capital and labor, with the general public benefiting by a period of sustained prosperity, marks the economic outlook for 1928, Senator Simeon D. Fess (R) of Ohio, declared today.

Fess, a former professor of economics in an Ohio University, predicted the business aspect of the new year would be featured by a stability of prices, a continued high wages scale for labor and general peace in industrial relations. He based his predictions upon the following signs:

Three Reasons.

1—A movement toward the control of production within the limits of trade demands.

2—Steadily increasing buying power of the people due to steady employment at a reasonably high scale of wages.

3—Better understanding between capital and labor with the government maintaining machinery to maintain this friendly relation.

As for the movement toward control of production, Fess pointed out that the cotton crop of 1926 was 18,000,000 bales, which was reduced to 14,000,000 bales in 1927. The 1927 crop, though smaller in quantity, Fess said, brought its producers greater returns than the larger 1926 crop.

The change toward buying power for the people, Fess said, was due to a growing feeling among employers that high wages are necessary to prosperity for all classes.

"It used to be the theory of business that profits were measured by the margin between the cost and the selling price," Fess explained. "Therefore business attempted to increase the margin of profit by beating down the cost of production, which always affected the wages of labor."

"Today we have abandoned that theory. Today business realizes that profits lie in the quantity of sales, measured by the buying power of the people, and that this buying power is due not only to steady employment but to a high scale of wages. Today business looks for its profit to great buying power on the part of the people and America has accepted as a sound economic principle, the theory of a high wage scale as promoting prosperity."

This change of heart on the part of business, Fess added, has resulted in more friendly relations between capital and labor.

"Labor looks with more friendly eyes on their employers and business realizes that its own economic welfare is based on the economic welfare of its employees," said Fess. "Consequently we have a better feeling of cooperation between capital and labor than ever before."

"The government is maintaining machinery to sustain this friendly feeling and arbitration is being substituted for the settlement of disputes instead of the old weapons of strikes and lockouts."

With production limited to demands, labor well paid and industrial peace assured, Fess concluded, another year of prosperity lies ahead of the American people.

Grove City School Of Christian Education To Meet—Other News Of Town

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 3.—Registration for the second semester of the Grove City Training School of Christian Education will be held this week. The sessions will be held as usual on Tuesday evenings. The first session of the second semester will be held this evening. The curriculum of study for the second semester offers five courses as follows: The Principles of Teaching; Miss Anderson, instructor; The New Testament; Rev. H. W. Jones; The Teaching Work of the Church; Rev. H. J. Melcher; Beginner's Materials and Methods; Miss Irene Kramer; Junior Materials and Methods; Rev. H. J. Melcher. The courses are all standard courses and credit is given for the successful completion by the International Council of Religious Education. The school is underwritten by the churches of Grove City and no tuition is charged members of the churches who enroll. The first semester's work has been voted a complete success as over 100 students enrolled in the work.

The Grove City Osteopathic Hospital will hold its mid-winter clinic, Wednesday, January 19. All character of cases will be treated. A luncheon will be served at the Penn Grove Hotel at 12:30 and in the evening a banquet will be held featuring a round-table discussion. The clinic will be in charge of Dr. O. O. Bashline and a large number of osteopathic doctors of the surrounding cities are expected to attend.

A week of prayer is being held at the First Presbyterian church this week. Meetings will be held every evening except Saturday. The subjects are as follows: Monday "Thanksgiving and Humiliation;" Tuesday, "The Universal Church;" Wednesday, "Nations and Governments;" Thursday, "Missions;" Friday, "Families, Schools and Universities."

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth's system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that the liver and aged liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They act smoothly and without gripping. How much better you'll feel and look. Everywhere wise men and women who value the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. # Announcing . . . ... A New Policy

ON Wednesday, December 21st., we announced that our New Policy would be made public today. Below, briefly and clearly, we give it to you. It is a Policy designed to meet present day needs, to cope with the ever changing plan of business. This New Policy has been adopted only after much thought and planning. We believe it to be near-perfect, we believe it to be better and more modern in every detail. Will you not share our faith in it by testing it out to your own satisfaction.

Merchandise—

UNDER our New Policy stocks will be smaller and less diversified. We will specialize in "Home Outfits" and the actual necessities for the home. We will carry complete new stocks of suites, rugs, stoves, etc. Secondary will be our stock of novelties and "store beautifiers". We will buy goods to sell—not to show. We will eliminate as far as possible all "dead stock" thus removing the added expense to you of carrying it. We will not offer any so called "specials" at cost or less simply to attract you. We will be as a Furniture Store should be—A Real Furniture Store—we will leave the "knick-knacks" for others.

Quality—

THE quality of our stock will be raised. We will select on the basis of quality first. We will never offer anything, no matter how low priced, that does not carry our full guarantee—and we can say without fear of contradiction, that the Euwer Guarantee in New Castle means something—93 years of fair dealings has proved that. Quality first will be the watchword at Euwers.

Price—

1928 will be a year of lower prices—we know that. Our recent Auction was held for the purpose of disposing of our old stock in order to be in position to buy at the new lowered prices. We have bought and will buy at prices at least 20% lower for the same quality merchandise than formerly. We will be on the look-out for bargains—we will pass any savings effected right on to our customers. We have cut our operating expenses to the core. We own our own building, trucks, garage, etc. We have no fancy frills to charge up—no high priced executives to pay. All merchandise will be marked on the basis of its cost—not looks. With this background Euwer prices are bound to be lower.

Terms—

OUR new terms are very important. They represent a very bold departure from the regular old-time methods. From the prices shown on the tags we will allow the following discounts:

20% discount for cash or accounts paid in 30 days.

15% discount for accounts paid in 60 days.

10% discount for accounts paid in 90 days.

Liberal, but sensible credit will be given to those qualifying for same. Accounts may be paid on our deferred payment plan by making a cash payment of 20% and the balance in 12 or less monthly payments. In all cases we will prove that Euwer's Credit Prices are lower than regular Credit Prices and that Euwer's Cash Prices are much lower than regular Cash Prices.

Service—

OUR service will remain as always—paramount. Complaints and Adjustments will be made promptly, cheerfully and without charge. Deliveries will be made by competent and courteous men. We will deliver, without charge by motor truck to any point within 100 miles and we will ship freight prepaid to any point in the United States. No matter what the cost we will maintain service—superior we believe to the average.

In Conclusion—

THE Policy as outlined above is given to you frankly and fully. We have made no attempts to camouflage or cover up any less agreeable points in a round-a-bout manner. As in the past all our dealings will be honest and above board. We know we can offer you better quality, superior service and lower prices and hereby pledge ourselves that in all our dealings the Customer's Rights and Wishes will always be respected above everything else. Come now—see our new stock of 1928 furniture at the new low 1928 prices—and offered to you under the 1928 method of doing business.

Congress Awaits Naval Row As Wilbur Prepares Attack

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A tremendous rumpus over the navy is due before this session of Congress ends. That's evident. The outlook gets uglier every day.

The S-4 disaster would insure trouble, all by itself, but there's plenty more to go with it.

The Langley explosion, right on the S-4's heels, came just at a time to attract the maximum of attention. The row about Admiral Maugruder's charges isn't by any means settled yet.

Now comes Secretary Wilbur, reporting accidents involving 10 destroyers, eight submarines, a target vessel, a mine sweeper and a collier in the last four years, at a cost of $3 lives and nearly 20 millions in damages.

This report by Wilbur, made to Congress at such a moment, almost suggests a determination to force a fight; to compel a deeper delving into the naval situation than might otherwise have developed. It wasn't

One side or the other will get despatched the worst of it.

The navy has furnished its own record for four of the most disastrous years in its peace-time history. If unable to shift the responsibility for them onto other shoulders, it will have a mighty difficult job now to prove that they weren't as bad as Wilbur himself says they were.

On the other hand, the congressional fault-finders have finally produced their varmint into coming right out of his hole, with blood in his eye. If they fail to "git" him, he shows every sign of eating 'em up.

There's no question that most of the big men in the army and navy alike do honestly consider that their two

Louis Genkinger, Retiring From City Council Gives His Pledge Of Support

"As far as I am concerned, I will do anything, as an individual, to help a council," said Louis Genkinger in a farewell address at the inauguration of new city officials at city hall Monday.

Mr. Genkinger expressed the regret that he is departing from councilmanic life, not because he is retiring as a public official, but because his program of improvements has been affected by the fact.

He pointed out that New Castle rulers have been criticised for spending money, but he pointed into the future and declared that it will not be long until the voters may be asked to approve a million dollar bond issue for extraordinary needed improvements.

Mr. Genkinger was invited to address the new council and citizens by the new councilman, Clayton H. Reeves, who characterized the former son as "the best councilman the city has ever had."

"I regret leaving this body, which has accomplished much, and I go from office feeling good," said Genkinger. "I trust the new council will function in the same harmonious manner as we did and be without animosity."

"My only regret in leaving is to see my program unfinished, but I want all of you people to get back of this council," added Genkinger.

"New Castle is ready to fall either way," said Genkinger in referring to conditions here at the present time. "Council has been criticised for spending money, but we are going to spend more."

"As councilman and superintendent of the streets and public department, I have been in a department that has been an enlightenment to me, and we must meet facts with a cold-blooded business manner."

"The council may soon ask the voters to approve a bond issue for a million dollars," said Genkinger, referring to the sanitary sewer system, which he declared New Castle has outlived.

"This is not the only development necessary in the future," he declared, pointing out that a considerable amount of money will be necessary to complete the improvements so necessary to a city of New Castle's size.

He said New Castle has been riding the "tail-end of the parade," referring as an example to the school situation, saying that for a long time nothing had been done toward actually relieving this situation.

"We have heard the school board criticised, but any sensible person should realize and does, that schools are needed. All at once the school board started its program, and it will be finished and then the city must start. As far as I am concerned, as an individual, I am willing to help the new council."

New Castle citizens have not got together on anything. Something of a petty nature arises and each cuts off his nose to spite his face. Honesty to a truthful individual is a high principle, and I trust we will get together."

"I hope we set aside this mire, such as was cast against me, as many lies were told that placed me in a mire. Stories told about me were nothing but lies, but I want to say that I will stand my reputation against any other citizen here."

"My family has been here for a century and we have always been willing to spend our money in taxation. Men who should follow the teachings of Jesus Christ, let these lies get into that great institution the church."

"But other men have been attacked in the same way. I thank you."

During his speech Mr. Genkinger also declared that as soon as politics is removed from city business considerable more success toward improvement will result.

Home More Potent Than Child's Birth

Influence Of Environment
Found To More Than Offset
That Of Heredity

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 3.—A remarkable investigation indicating that homes play a greater part than heredity in making us the sort of individuals that we are, was reported to the American Psychological Association here by Dr. Frank N. Freeman of the University of Chicago.

Four hundred little children taken from undesirable surroundings and placed in good homes were used by Dr. Freeman to test the power of environment to alter mental development.

A large percentage of the fathers and mothers were mental and moral defectives. In spite of their bad start in life, children placed in good homes gained on an average of 10 points in their intelligence quotient.

The vast importance of the first years of a human being's life was shown by the fact that children who changed homes before they were four years old made striking gains in their age level, whereas children adopted after four years scarcely altered in this respect.

Mothers are beginning to worry over the normality of their children. Dr. Florence Matera of Columbus said, and because of this a new kind of psychologic clinic is developing, which will help normal children to make the most of their possibilities. Out of 100 average and superior children of the pre-school age, all but 11 had some peculiar individual problem of behavior or mental twist that needed adjustment, she stated.

A test of a normal child is his ability to meet his own problem successfully and quickly once they are pointed out to him.

FIRST — "JUST A COUGH" THEN TERRIBLE TUBERCULOSIS!

For That Lung Cough—Murrmann's Compound

Thousands die every day from a dread disease that started as "just a cough". Undertakers thrive on families whose dearly beloved had "just a little pain" or "just this" or "just that" or "just a cough" to begin with. But it got worse. It's paying no heed to seeming trifles that is the beginning of the path to the end.

Half the people who died before their time might just as well have lived many years longer. Hundreds of thousands of cases of tuberculosis started with "just a cough". "I'll soon be over it," they said, but alas so many of them didn't get over it. And yet tuberculosis, incurable when it's a firm hold, is as easily conquered as anything else if taken in time.

Act promptly. The sooner you get after a lung cough the sooner you will be out of danger and you will remain in danger just as long as you cough.

Murrmann's Compound is a wonderful new remedy that is sweeping the country. Hundreds praise it. Hundreds say it saved them. It contains no cocaine, morphine, opium or any harmful drugs of any kind. It is a blood food and builder.

Asthma sufferers also obtain grateful relief from this amazing medicine. They say that it is wonderful the way it helps them.

At reliable druggists. If yours hasn't it can quickly get it from The D. W. Price Company, Toledo, Ohio.

Question Suspect In Fiendish Murder

At Washington, Pa.

Man Who Found Body Questioned
By Police, May Know
More About Slaying

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 3.—Convinced that William Grisolia knows more about the fiendish murder of 17-year-old Thelma Young here last week, authorities today questioned the Italian glass worker who found the body.

Another suspect has been kept under surveillance by the county authorities while they checked the alibi of Fred Drew, young negro, first arrested in connection with the crime. Drew had cleared himself, authorities stated.

More than 100 persons attended the funeral services for the girl yesterday, braving zero weather. A six-months-old baby daughter of Mrs. George Hough died during the services when a cerebral abscess burst, according to physicians.

Wyatt, who had his injuries dressed at Westmoreland hospital, continued to Erie, where he will take part in a swimming match.

Tommy Loughran May Fight Gene In Title Bout

Philadelphia Boy Anxious For Chance To Meet Tunney For Heavyweight Title

FOUGHT TUNNEY IN 1922 BOUT

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor of International News Service
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—If Gene Tunney, the well known champion, is looking for two little fights in the heavyweight division this summer, Tommy Loughran will give him one of them, to wit, the first and, in the event that this is agreeable to all concerned, there may be "no second". Thomas himself said to today and added an interesting observation to the effect that, if Tunney really is the smart fighter everyone says he is, Thomas, is all alone in his opinion. Tunney, it seems, thinks Tunney is a fast talker and a slow thinker.

"Why," quoted Thomas in some amazement that gents like myself should be permitted to wander at large with the idea that the heavyweight champion really knows his adhesive gaule. "Tunney couldn't think fast enough to put Dempsey on the floor any one of a half dozen times he had Jack ready in their first fight. Gene is a good fighter but he is a strictly mechanical one and I am a kind."

"He says he wants two fights this summer. I suppose Dempsey is due to get one of them. I'll take the other, provided I can clean up the light heavyweight division. I am proud of my title and don't want to cheapen it. So, if I can dispose of Leo Lomski's challenge next Friday, I will invite any other challenger to come forward and defi and, failing in this respect, I intend to go after Tunney for that June fight."

Blanket Challenge

Loughran's program, it seems, calls for a blanket challenge to the entire heavyweight division. He respects Lomski, quite as he should, but expects to beat him, possibly quite as he should. In so doing, he hopes to take the play away from the Sarkey-Heaney heavyweight elimination a week later. This shouldn't be too difficult, if you care to accept Loughran's own version. He thinks Heaney is just a fair fighter and Sharkey not much good, if at all. As for Tunney, he already has met the young man, socially and professionally, and claims to have remained unimpressed.

"I was just a kid, 19 years old, when I fought Tunney in 1922," Loughran declared. "He dropped me with a right hand in the first round and that is what won him the fight. He should have knocked me out. But Gene hits first and thinks afterwards and I had no trouble with him the rest of the fight. He even fell flat on his face when he missed me with a right hand in the fourth round. I was only a middleweight at the time."

"I don't think Tunney is much better now than he was then. He has been made to look good by the fact that Dempsey is so bad. As for me, I know I have improved 100 per cent since 1922."

To Meet Lomski

The Loughran-Lomski fight for the light heavyweight championship is scheduled for Madison Square Garden on Friday night. To hear Loughran tell it, this affair will furnish him more interest than any heavyweight can hope to do, enroute to the Tunney match. He intimates that Dempsey is totally fini, as we say along the champs' elysées. Sharkey he regards as just a mere big man, Heaney as a good club fighter and no more. Both he says, lack ring sense.

They will eliminate themselves, or so Thomas feels, and failing of this, he will engage to eliminate both or severally. Then for Tunney or Dempsey or both. His is a first class story, even if it doesn't happen.

Meanwhile, Loughran thinks that he will be finished with the light heavyweight division as soon as the Lomski fight is out of the way. He may be both right and wrong. This Lomski, as I have seen him, is quite a man and, if there is any finishing to be done, he may do it.

Overlands And Marshalls Win League Games

The Rick-Overlands and the Marshalls won their games in the City league contests played at the Y. M. C. A. floor on Monday night.

In the first game of the bill the Overlands downed the Penn-State team 27 to 6 in a lopsided contest. The Rick-Overlands took an early lead and held it throughout.

The Marshalls had an easy time in defeating the B. and O. 24 to 16 in the second game of the program. The Marshalls had a lead of 11 to 4 at the end of the first half.

The summaries: Penn-State—6. Rick-Overlands—27. Hood ..... F ..... Nocera. Robinson ..... F ..... Franklin. Gennock ..... C ..... Paulsey. Coen ..... G ..... Volesko. Summer ..... G ..... Jones. Subs: Bruce, Hanlon, Neyman, Reider, Hoyland, Uhle.

Field Goals: Bruce, Nocera, Franklin 3, Paulsey 2, Volesko, 3, Jones 2.

Fouls: Penn-State 4 out of 4. Rick-Overlands 5 out of 12. Referee, Carmody.

Marshalls—24. B. and O.—16. Love ..... F ..... Nocera. Costello ..... F ..... Reed. Melder ..... C ..... Doyle. Genkinger ..... G ..... Diffley. Bissett ..... G ..... Blowers. Subs: Snyder, Rose.

Field Goals: Melder 2, Genkinger 2, Bissett 2, Nocera 2, Doyle 2, Diffley 2.

Fouls: Marshalls 13 out of 16. B. and O. 2 out of 10. Referee, McGuire.

The Yankee infield combination may experience one break next year. It looks as if Joe Dugan, who has been doing regular duty around the hot corner for Huggins the last six years, is due for some bench work.

Dugan made his big league debut in 1917 with the Athletics after starring on the diamond at Holy Cross.

He came to the Yankees in 1923 and in 1924 he was considered to be the classiest third baseman in the league.

Indies To Play Grovers Tonight

The Wampum Indies will get their first real test of the year tonight at the Wampum Opera House floor when they tackle the strong Grovers team of Grove City, Pa.

The Indies have been going good this year and expect to take the Grovers into camp. It is understood that the Mercer county quintet is undefeated so far this year and that they are anxious to add the Indies to their string of victims.

A Skater's Reward

AT NEW YORK—Benny Touchstone of Florida won decision over Cyclone Jack Humbert, Belgian heavyweight champion, 10 rounds.

Johnny Urban, Pittsburgh heavyweight, scored technical knockout against Pietro Corri, Brooklyn, in sixth round.

Lou Bara, New York heavyweight, kayoed Mike Sankovitch, Passaic, N. J., in fourth round.

AT NEWARK, N. J.—Paulino Uzcudun, Basque heavyweight, scored technical knockout over Pat Lester in seventh round.

AT PHILADELPHIA—Benny Bass, featherweight champion, won decision over Pete Nebo, Indian boxer, 10 rounds.

AT COLUMBUS—Lou Bloom, Columbus featherweight, won a 12-round decision from Johnny Datto of Cleveland.

AT DAYTON—Joe Sekyra, Dayton heavyweight, knocked out Billy Vidabeck, Bayonne, N. J., in the third round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Meanwhile, Loughran thinks that he will be finished with the light heavyweight division as soon as the Lomski fight is out of the way. He may be both right and wrong. This Lomski, as I have seen him, is quite a man and, if there is any finishing to be done, he may do it.

Coroner Investigates Death
Of J. H. Reeher On South
Mill Street

Inquest started last night at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz, in the case of Joseph H. Reeher, who died as a result of injuries sustained last Friday night when struck by the automobile of Lewis West of 405 Vine street at the P. & L. E. crossing on South Mill street, was continued until Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock, on account of the fact that one or more material witnesses were unable to be present.

Coroner J. P. Caldwell presided and District Attorney J. Elder Bryan looked after the interests of the Commonwealth. Former Judge S. P. Emery was present in the interests of Mr. West.

Testimony of Lewis West and his two companions, James Barrett and Emerson Allen, was to the effect that they saw Mr. Reeher going across from the west to the east side of Mill street on the railroad crossing, when about 60 feet from the crossing. They testified that Mr. West had applied his brakes and turned to the right and up the tracks. The front of the car missed Mr. Reeher but the back fender may have hit Mr. Reeher, although they did not feel the jar.

Mr. Reeher was knocked north of the railroad crossing and toward the east curb, they stated. They told of assisting in placing him in the car of Herbert Cunningham of Maryland avenue who took Mr. Reeher to the New Castle hospital. Mr. West estimated his speed at about 30 miles an hour. They all thought the Cunningham car was coming south at the same time and possibly crossed the crossing before the accident occurred. Some of them thought a street car arrived at the crossing, enroute south just about the time of the accident.

Herman Rinehart and Robert Chapell had been walking along Mill street near the crossing of the P. & L. E. when the accident occurred and had seen the West car approaching the crossing and Mr. Reeher crossing the street. They testified that West attempted to avoid the accident. They thought the rear of the machine struck Mr. Reeher. Chapell had seen the street car come to the crossing. He estimated the speed of the West car at from 30 to 35 miles an hour.

Joseph Colango was not present but his statement to the police was read. He stated that he had been about 15 feet behind Mr. Reeher and saw him start across at the railroad crossing. He had seen him struck by the automobile.

J. T. Hoffman testified to seeing the dead body of Mr. Reeher at the Campbell undertaking rooms.

Owing to the fact that Herbert Cunningham had not come to the inquest to give his testimony and also because counsel for Mr. West desired other witnesses to be present, Coroner Caldwell arranged for an adjourned session on Wednesday evening.

(International News Service) MARIETTA, Ohio, Jan. 3.—Five passengers were injured and a score escaped when the Kenova-Pittsburgh express on the Ohio River Division of the B. & O. was derailed at Ravenscroft, W. Va., early today. Zero weather is said to have been partly responsible for the broken rail which caused the wreck.

The universal draft will be more fair. Then nobody can be blamed for being a second Lieutenant.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

And so, as old Samuel Pepys would have it, to work. The holidays are over, the new year is here and all of us can roll up the old sleeves and get to it. The parties and dancing are done for a while, the decorations are down, there appears to be nothing standing in the way of a session of hard work.

Did a little roaming yesterday with the newsboys of the city, the roaming being done with a white apron on and a tray in hand. "They also serve who only stand and wait" and that's what I was doing, waiting on a bunch of hungry newsies.

Where they all came from is a mystery. Perhaps the figures of the circulation are low, for certainly that crowd of newsies could distribute the output of all the newspapers in Western Pennsylvania. And how they could hide food!

The way they tossed off the bread explained why this country raises so much wheat.

Style seems to revolve in a circle. What was in style twenty years ago is just as likely to be in style tomorrow. Back in the ante-bellum days a party usually wound up with a lap lunch. They called it so because you parked your lunch in your lap, and fortunate were you if someone else didn't park their lunch in your lap also.

But the lap lunch went out with mustache cups and congress gaiters. Hostesses put your lunch on a table and that old time chocolate cake gave way to wafers and tea.

But the cycle of style has brought the lap lunch back. Not under the same name, heavens no, it is now a buffet lunch and according to a young friend of mine it is considered the last word in style to serve the lunch a la buffet.

Now as a matter of fact there wasn't any buffet in sight last night when they served the lunch. It was a lap lunch pure and simple, and I felt simple enough trying to juggle all they handed out. First a tin tray then a filigreed paper napkin or doily perhaps it was. Then a young towie with the tools of the lunch wrapped in it, knife, fork and two spoons. Then a flock of sandwiches, a dab of salad, an orange ice, a cube of cake, a cup of coffee and a glass of water. All on one tray.

One really should be an octopus to handle all that stuff. One lad whose shape resembles a bag of sledges had a tough time with his lap lunch. He had no lap when he sat down.

Now understand this is in no wise belittlin' of the lap lunch. It was as tasty as a June morning and as satisfying as a first kiss. But let's get back to fundamentals. Let's call a lap lunch by its right name.

SORDS POINTS Dr. Peltzer, Conquer Of Nurmi

BY JACK SORDS

It is hoped that Dr. Otto Peltzer, in the United States for the first time, will demonstrate how he breaks world's records before he leaves. The German runner came for the purpose only of studying American methods, but may change his mind before long. This can happen only if the German athletic board grants the runner permission.

He holds records for 500, 800 and 1,500 meters and 880-yard events and numbers among his victims such runners as Paavo Nurmi and Edwin Wade. Peltzer is a doctor of philosophy, journalist and an instructor in history and geography. He is 28 years old, stands six feet one inch in height and weighs 165 pounds. Those who have seen him in action claim that in full stride he is as smooth and graceful as Nurmi. He has been running for 10 years, but did not come into prominence as an international star until 1926, when he set world's records of 1:03 3-5 for 500 meters in Hungary; 1:51 3-5 for 880 yards, and 1:51 3-5 for 800 meters in England and 3:51 for 1,500 meters in Germany.

Peltzer's range of distance is 400 to 3,000 meters and is supposed to be best at the half mile. He prefers the 500 to 800-meter races.

him efficiently. He can read batters quickly and ferrit out their weakness. He has the proper perspective on things. He works well with any pitcher.

In addition to this Bassler always hits well—above 300 as a rule. Lack of speed in getting to first probably held his batting average down considerably every year.

Johnny is sort of a philosopher, too.

Discussing some young players during a training session in the south one spring I remarked to Bassler that a player in question had a world of speed but didn't seem to know what it was all about.

"Well, there aren't very many who have it in the legs and head too," replied John. "That's too much to expect."

John had it—and still has it—in the head.

If some one walks up to you, drops you with a well-timed sock on the jaw and permits you to lay there as he walks away—take a polyanna of it. The blow may have helped somebody.

The case of Davy Bancroft is brought up again as trade rumors have Johnny Gooch, Pirate catcher playing second fiddle to Earl Smith on the Pirate squad in 1927 until the Bancroft-Smith incident. Smith was drawing the daily catching assignment. Gooch was on the bench. He had gotten away to a bad start and seemed destined to repose in the dugout at Pittsburgh for some time.

Then Smith went out of his class to pick on Dave Bancroft, two-thirds his size. Bancroft went down for the count and Smith went on the suspended list for several weeks. It was right in the heat of the pennant fight and the loss of Smith was expected to check the Pirates' chances. Johnny Gooch was called on to fill Earl's shoes—but not his speaking engagements—and performed so nobly that Smith's absence was forgotten by many.

Gooch's work in the world series was satisfactory as well, despite his failure to leap high enough to spear Johnny Miljus' wild pitch in the ninth inning of that final game.

Now Gooch finds himself sought by other major league clubs and considered good enough by the Pirate bosses to draw more than flies on a bargain counter.

That sock of Earl's may have laid Davy Bancroft low, but it slammed Johnny Gooch right into a front seat.

The Cinc Reds would like Johnny and a trade sending him to Cincinnati and Pete Donohue to Pittsburgh is one of the winter deals mentioned.

You don't need mail-order training in will power if you have a bedroom window where the wind howls in when you want to get up.

A principle and a prejudice aren't alike. One is delight in something that pays you a profit; the other a grrouch because you lost.

New Chevrolet
now on display!

Today, Chevrolet presents the crowning triumph of 16 years' continuous progress—a great new automobile so impressive in appearance, performance and sturdiness that it marks the opening of a new era of luxurious transportation at low cost!

Built on a 107" wheelbase—4" longer than before—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is impressively large, low and racy. Fashionable new colors in genuine Duco, rich new upholsteries and handsome appointments lend an air of notable distinction; while a type of big car performance once thought impossible in a low-priced car has been achieved by numerous engineering advancements.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet is powered by an improved valve-in-head engine with such impressive features as alloy "invar strut" pistons, hydro-laminated camshaft gears, mushroom-type valve tappets, AC oil filter and AC air cleaner. The chassis has been redesigned. And as a result, the new Chevrolet provides delightful smoothness—click-of-the-heel acceleration—the ability to maintain 50, 55 and 60 miles an hour—the safety of four-wheel brakes—the steering ease that can only result from ball bearing worm and gear steering mechanism—and comfort over all roads at all speeds, due to semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—84% of the wheelbase.

We urge you to come in—see this beautiful new car—and learn how Chevrolet has again electrified America by creating a Bigger and Better motor car and offering it at prices so low as to be actually amazing.

ELLWOOD CITY COUNCIL ORGANIZES FOR YEAR

Jud Turner Is Re-Elected As President; New Officers Take Posts Last Night

Delay Action On Filling Of Places Of Police Chief, Engineer And Street Commissioner

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—At the 1928 organization meeting of the Borough Council which took place last evening in the city building, new officers were formally installed as follows: President, Jud Turner; Treasurer, George Moyer; Secretary, Ernest Moyer; Electrician, William Freidoff and Fire Chief, H. D. Plant.

Owing to the fact that the hiring of a City Manager is pending, no action was taken on the appointment of City Engineer and Street Commissioner. Filling the office of chief of police was also held over until a later date.

A new street committee was appointed to investigate the many applications which have been received for the position of Borough manager and will report back to council. The personnel of the committee is as follows: W. G. Duncan, chairman, R. Wilson and C. B. Houk.

Jud Turner who has ably filled the position of President during the last session of council was re-elected to that position for the coming term at last night's meeting.

President Says Good Business For 1928 Is Almost Certainly

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Good business lies ahead for the United States in 1928, in the opinion of President Coolidge.

He told callers that reports from government bureaus indicated that better times are in prospect in most lines of industry.

As examples, he pointed out that opportunities for employment are increasing, railroads are buying large quantities of equipment, the automobile industry is booming, credit is plentiful and wages are at a high peak.

With improved machinery and mass production methods, the president foresees a new economic era for the United States, comparable to the era that followed the introduction of the factory system. He said that mass production has decreased manufacturing costs and has brought about a wider distribution of goods, thus bringing to the people generally a more fulsome enjoyment of pros-

School Board To Consider Third Floor Of School

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—At the first meeting of the Ellwood City board of education which will be conducted Thursday evening in the Lincoln school, an important feature of the meeting will be the decision of the members with regard to the completion of the third floor of the Lincoln Junior high school.

The auditorium is still unfinished, but the board feels that the third floor is worse needed, as special courses can be placed there, such as applied art, etc. The cost of finishing the floor is estimated at approximately $75,000 and plans will be viewed and the matter discussed at Thursday's meeting.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mrs. J. L. Goodwill and son of First street have returned from a week's visit in Oil City where they attended the funeral services for Mrs. Goodwill's uncle, C. L. Gun, a prominent oil man. On Thursday Mrs. Goodwill gave several readings over the radio broadcasting station of WLW-B at Oil City.

Dr. Frishkorn has returned to his home in Detroit, concluding a ten days' visit with his mother, Mrs. Frishkorn of Wurtemburg.

John Kimple of Lawrence avenue spent the day in Pittsburgh on business.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clyde of Niles, O., have returned to their home, concluding a week's visit at the residence of their nephew, William J. Clyde and family of Wurtemburg.

Edward Wimer of Woodlawn spent the week-end as the guest of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Wimer of Wurtemburg.

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—Wednesday evening the regular weekly prayer service will be conducted.

Friday night at 7 o'clock the children will gather at the church for the weekly children's hour program.

Friday in New Castle the mid-year meeting of the Baptist association will take place. Prominent speakers have been secured and many of the local congregations are planning to attend.

HOSPITAL NOTES
ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—Discharged: Mrs. Helmina Miller of Line avenue, Harold Garwig of Spring avenue and Dan Sabo.

Attorneys for Chicago and Illinois filed no bill of exceptions but petitioned the court to set the case for argument at an early date.

The complaining states sued to enjoin Chicago from diverting water from Lake Michigan, and Hughes recommended that the suit be dismissed.

Dr. J. L. Reed Is New President Of Local Lions' Club

Inducted Into Office At Noon Meeting At Elks Club; Other Features

Dr. J. L. Reed is now president of the New Castle Lions club, being inducted into office by Retiring President Wayne D. Stitzinger at the regular noon-day meeting on Tuesday, January 3, at the Elks club. Dr. Reed has been vice president of the club and member of the board for several years. President Stitzinger spoke briefly in turning over the office to his successor, who responded nicely and asked the cooperation of the members and the officers.

Other officers installed were:

First vice president—John R. Ellison.
Second vice president—Thomas Elliott.

Third vice president—Jess S. Gibson.

Tail twister—Dan H. Andrews.

Lion tamer—Paul Welsh.

Sky pilot—Rev. D. C. Schenck.

Directors—C. J. Streib, T. M. Shaffer and A. C. McCoy.

Former President B. K. Thacker, speaking for directors and members, presented the good wishes of the club and a token to Retiring Secretary L. H. McCamie, who responded with brief remarks.

Secretary McCamie presented a diamond studded past president's lapel button to Past President W. D. Stitzinger.

Treasurer Wilson made a report showing a good sized balance in the treasury.

Auditing committee of F. E. Sowers and Jess Gibson was elected.

Committee to assist in Advertising convention—A. H. Barlett, A. M. Shumaker and Jack Gordon.

Cigars were passed by Lion George L. Smith on a nine-pound daughter born Tuesday, Dec. 27, 1927.

The damage was estimated at between $12,000 and $15,000.

Police investigators confessed themselves baffled at the resumption of gang hostilities. They believed the elimination of Alphonse "Scarface" Capone from the trouble zone had brought about a cessation of the mysterious bombings and assassinations that marked the close of the old year.

The theory now is that a new faction, as yet unidentified has challenged the rule of the supposedly triumphant Zuta combine.

WILL CONSIDER LOCAL PROBLEMS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 3.—Because Mrs. Amelia Appleby was apparently clubbed to death before she was trussed and put in a sack, investigators from the sheriff's office today were paying particular attention to a hammer, a baseball bat and a pogo stick which deputies reported finding in the garage of Dr. Charles M. McMillan, now held in connection with the woman's death.

The hammer, according to the deputies, bore reddish stains. These will be analyzed today, in an effort to determine whether or not they are blood stains.

Mrs. Appleby, the widow of a wealthy Chicago inventor, was found dead Christmas night. Her body, in a sack, was discovered near San Fernando.

Rev. Samuel Maitland, pastor of the Greenwood M. E. church, left last night for Washington, D. C., where he is going in the interests of Taylor university, of which he is an official. From Washington he will go to New York City to attend a meeting of the Committee of One Thousand for Law Enforcement in America, of which he is a member.

William D. Hettenbaugh of 138 Garland avenue, reported to the police today, that while driving north on Highland avenue following another car going in the same direction, that Robert Toler, 1206 Albert street, driving west on Moody avenue, came out and drove between his machine and that ahead and this resulted in a collision, some damage being done. The owners of the Toler car in a report claimed that the Hettenbaugh car was being driven at a high rate of speed.

By the way it is starting in this winter it is likely that it will hit bottom before the winter is over, even though it took it some time to get cooled off this fall.

The coldest day in New Castle for the past 15 years was in February 1918 when the mercury dropped to 25 degrees below zero. Other cold times were February 1918, when it was 19 below, February 1914-18 below; February 1917-16 below; March 1916-12 below; and several days when a temperature of 11 below or less was recorded.

The lowest recorded temperature in 1920-21 was in February when 3 above was recorded. In February 1923 the coldest day was 0 but it did not go below.

To Cost $300,000,000 To Rehabilitate Mississippi River Flooded Valley

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The total cost of rehabilitating and reconstructing the Mississippi river valley will be approximately $300,000,000, President Coolidge estimated today.

Of this amount, he said that approximately $110,000,000 must be spent for river improvements and $108,000,000 for construction work to prevent floods in the future.

He listed the chief flood problems as:

- Determination of amount of local contributions.
- Raising height of present levees.
- Construction of new spillways.
- Construction of new levees along the valley rivers.

He announced that army engineers are now engaged in drafting a finance plan for Mississippi river rehabilitation. A way will be sought to prevent inequalities being placed upon any section.

Fine Of $50 Is Placed On Woman By New Mayor

When Anna Spencer of Lawrence street appeared at the police station today to pay the fine of one of the men arrested in her place last night, she was detained because of the fact that when arrested last night she slipped away while the arresting officer, Robert Letens, was busy.

When taken before Mayor Gillespie she remarked, "This is a nice thing to do. I come to see a man and I'm arrested."

The mayor's reply was, "Well, I'll fine you $50 this time and don't appear before me again."

She was charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house.

Members Of Police Force Are Greeted

Immediately after the first session of council, which followed his inauguration as mayor of this city, Mayor William H. Gillespie went to the police department.

There he sought out and shook hands with the officers on duty, some of whom he knew. There were smiles exchanged, pleasantries exchanged and congratulations extended to the mayor.

This done, the mayor went into the chief's office, where he held a private conference with the chief.

1928 TO START NEW CYCLE OF 14 'FAT' YEARS

(International News Service) LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Bruckner Theory, a theory of definite 35-year weather cycles, tells that 1927's raininess is to be followed by a year of moderation and sunshine. The theory of the late Professor Bruckner has been gaining in scientific support year after year as more close observations are continually being made.

The weather for 1928, according to the theory, will repeat the weather of 1893; every 35 years the weather in temperate zones is repeated. 1927 is supposed to have been similar to 1892, 1926 to 1891, etc.

For Hundreds of Years.

Thirty-five year weather cycles were casually observed hundreds of years ago. The ancient philosopher Bacon wrote: "Every five and thirty years the same kind and sortes of years and weather comes about again." More observation has added weight to the idea of these weather cycles.

Professor Bruckner goes further than merely noticing the cycle's existence. He puts it on a scientific basis; points to definite meteorological forces and natural phenomena which bring it about. He takes the theory from the lap-robe of the astrologers, those mysterious readers of the stars, and he clothes the theory in the respectable mantle of science.

Predictions of 1928's brightness come from observations of recent weather history. In recent times periods of rain have started in 1836, 1871 and 1906. Each rain period has lasted approximately 14 years. Then has followed a seven-year period of mediocre weather, and following this a 14-year period of pleasantness and sunshine. At the end of this period the 35 cycle begins again with the rainy period.

Begin Fat Years.

The last 14-year rainy period is supposed to have begun in 1906. The years from 1906 to 1920 weather-men label as having been "moderately rainy." The next seven years, of which 1927 is the last, have been "moderate" for the average. The year 1921 instead of being the normal "moderate" year was sublime in its sunshineness. 1927, at the other end of the seven-year group, has with its nastiness kept the average of the group at the "moderate" point.

1928 begins the 14-year "fat years"; just as 1893 began 35 years ago another period of 14 fat years.

Today's scientists stress the essential truth of the Bruckner theory. There are meteorological forces, they say, which bring about a 35-year cycle. But the scientist does not stop there. He warns that there are many other meteorological forces which do not run in 35-year cycles, but which also have marked effects on the weather.

Part Of Meteor
Falls Into Car,
Man Is Stunned

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 3.—Reese Worick of the firm of Worick Brothers, garagemen, is recovering from shock suffered when he was the target of a meteor.

A telephone message said a car had been damaged on the Brentsville road, and asked that it be towed in. Worick drove the wrecker to the scene.

While attaching the damaged car to the wrecker, Worick was stunned by a loud report which he at first thought was lightning. Investigation showed the derrick of the wrecker had been broken and there was a smoking, hot ball of metallic substance on the floor of the car about the size of an orange, which evidently had been detached from a meteor. The missile is on display here.

Negro Spirituals To Be Presented

Colored Artists To Sing Here On Thursday Evening At Cathedral

The Negro spirituals—those heart-felt plantation songs that were "forged of sorrow in the heat of religious fervor"—which will be heard in the coming concert of J. Rosmond Johnson, an accomplished musician who plays the accompaniments and adds his richly resonant baritone voice in response-like commentary, and Taylor Gordon, the tenor with the voice of sympathetic sweetness at the Cathedral Thursday evening not a little of their charm to their poetry. The negro's power of graphic phrase, his sense of pathos, and his warm emotional nature all prompt him to spontaneous creation of titles and lines that, coming from the heart, as one review expressed it, go straight to the heart of the listener.

There's magic in such titles as:

I've got to walk My Lonesome Valley.
Singing With a Sword in My Hand.
Ride on King Jesus.
We Shall Walk Through the Valley in Peace.
The Blood Came Twinkling Down.
Death's Going to Lay His Cold, Ice Hand on Me.

I Thank God I'm Free at Last.
Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child.

There's directness about titles like these that carries its own conviction—a naivete and yet a power. The negro, considering his sufferings to be similar to those persecuted Jews, used the Biblical stories in his own terse, graphic way of expression, and then added melodies and harmonies recognized by musicians and public alike as of great beauty and originality. With the power of creating such telling titles went to the power of giving songs poignant musical expression.

The verses of many of these masterpieces are not less powerful and some lines stand out with the greatest lines in all English literature.

"Sometimes I feel like a motherless child
Sometimes I feel like a motherless child
Sometimes I feel like a motherless child
A long way from home."
has a simplicity that cuts the heart with its pathos.

But the negro can also sing hopefully:

Sometimes I feel like an eagle in the air
Some-a dese mornin's bright an' fair
I'm goin' to lay down my heavy load;
Goin' to spread my wings an' cleave de air."

Another:
I know moon-rise, I know star-rise,
I lay dis body down;
I know moon-rise, I know star-rise,
I lay dis body down.
I lie in de grave an' stretch out my arms,
I lay dis body down."

Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson wrote of the line "I lie in de grave an' stretch my arms that never, it seems to me, since man first lived and suffered, was his infinite longing for peace uttered more plaintively than in that line."

This pathos, this plaintiveness will be authentically revealed in the concert of these two negro artists on January 5 in New Castle.

Gas Explosion
Injures Family

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Jan. 3.—Mrs. William Welch, 28, was probably fatally burned and her husband and two-year-old child were severely injured when gas exploded in their home here. At a hospital where Mrs. Welch was taken it was believed she was dying tonight.

The family was in the kitchen when gas fumes were detected. The door of an adjoining room was opened and gas that had accumulated in the room was ignited by the fire in the kitchen stove. The roof was blown from the house and it was shaken from its foundation. No fire resulted.

Modern Science Works Obscure Ancient Wonders

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 3.—The Pyramids and the Sphinx, the hanging gardens of Babylon and the statue of Jupiter Olympus—in fact all the seven wonders of the ancient world have been supplanted by a new list, which is longer than the old one and which still does not include all the wonders of the modern world.

This new list has been compiled by Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology from suggestions submitted to Popular Science Monthly by several hundred leaders in American science industry and education.

Here is the new list:

Discovery of bacteria and application of bacteriology to human welfare. Pesteur is given credit for this.

Progress of our knowledge of the constitution of matter and radiation phenomena. John Dalton, Pierre Curie and Marie Curie are credited.

Progress of electricity for light, power and communication. The honored man in this instance is Michael Faraday.

Internal combustion engine and its application. Gottlieb Daimler is credited.

To conquer a cold, see your druggist. Get a package of Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea. Its cost is small. Take it steaming hot to heat the chilled blood and flush the poisons from the system. Remember, this pure vegetable remedy is fine for constipation.

Elie Whitney, as the pioneer of industrial mass production is given credit for this.

For comparison, the original list of the seven wonders of the world was: the Pyramids and the Sphinx, the hanging gardens of Babylon, the tomb of Mausolus, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Colossus of Rhodes, the statue of Jupiter Olympus and the Pharos of Alexandria.

Commenting the forthcoming issue of the science magazine says:

"Where the ancient wonders were all architectural the creation of slave labor, whose mere size brought wonder to the ancient mind the modern wonders of applied science, although inestimably more important play such a part in everyday life that the world accepts them in commonplace."
